MP innovations connecting us with each other

At MP, we develop our own IoT technology. We have generated innovation which today is a reality; connecting us with your lift and thus making sure everything runs like clockwork.

MP ecoGO controllers

This is the brain of these lifts, a digital internet-connected controller, considered to be one of the best on the market. Use and status information is sent via the elevator's phone line, allowing remote maintenance and repair work to be carried out.

MP connectivity add-on equipment

For our older lifts which do not have an MP ecoGO digital controller, our add-on connectivity equipment means your lift will be able to connect to the internet to send and receive data. This equipment is compatible with MP lifts, as well as some other lifts from other brands.

MP platform

We have created a cloud-based platform, which allows our elevators to communicate with our technical team. It is able to process the data sent by each elevator and make it accessible. Moreover, it allows for remote repair and maintenance work, meaning possible incidents can be foreseen and the service life of the lift improved.

Customised MP maintenance

Our internet-connected lifts allow us to offer you a maintenance service which is completely adapted to the characteristics and real use of your lift. We are able to offer you tailor-made contracts, as well as an approachable and effective service. We pride ourselves on being in constant contact with you and your lift to make sure it never fails you.

Connected Lifts by MP: lifts that are connected to you

For us, connected lifts are a way of offering you a more personalised service fully adapted to your needs. They are a way of strengthening the core values which have been the foundation of our work since MP was founded in 1984, which have allowed us to install more than 130,000 elevators around the world.

Closeness

We like to maintain a special relationship with our customers and users, understanding their needs and providing them with an outstanding service. Our lifts have always connected us to our customers and users, and now thanks to our connected lifts, we can be closer to them than ever.

Safety

This is something which is at the very heart of everything we do. What could be more important than the lives and well-being of our employees, customers and users? The connectivity of our lifts means we are now able to foresee possible incidents. As a result, they are always safe and running.
